Art Unit: 2874

1. Applicant's communication filed on January 12, 2005 has been carefully studied by the Examiner. The arguments advanced therein, considered together with the amendments made to the claims, are not persuasive. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, this action is made final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over applicant's admitted prior art as shown in Fig. 1, Mulholland et al (U.S. Patent 5,127,073) and further in view of Takahashi (JP 04-104111).

Applicant's admitted prior art as shown in Fig. 1 in the present application teaches all the claimed limitation except an inserted surface and a joint surface that are opposite to each other and a supporting bracket. Mulholland et al teach an optical fiber connector that can be disposed horizontally (90 degree connector) or vertically (180 degree connector) with the respect to the PCB. Mulholland et al also show the pins that are bent for a 90 degree connector and the pins that are straight for a 180 degree connector. Having such configuration could provide the user with easier access to the connector or minimize the space of an optical system. Thus, one with ordinary skill in the art would have easily recognized to modify the applicant's admitted prior art to have a vertical configuration (this modification would require bending the pins by 90 degrees since the pins shown in the prior art shown in Fig 1 appear to be straight) wherein the insert surface and the joint surface is opposite to each as taught by Mulholland et al for easier access or for minimizing the space of an optical system. Takahashi teaches using a cover with an opening for an optical connector to protect the connector and to fix the connector to a circuit board. Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use a cover (a supporting bracket) in applicant's admitted prior art and Mulholland et al as taught by Takahashi to protect and fix the optical connector to a circuit board.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
